NEW YORK (AP) — The Duke of Windsor leaves Saturday for Houston, Tex., to undergo "corrective arterial surgery" by a noted heart doctor.
The former King Edward VIII, now 70, is reportedly suffering from a possible abdominal aneurysm — a ballooning of an artery in the abdomen, according to spokesmen at Methodist Hospital, Houston, where the surgery will be performed.
Wife to Make Trip
The duke's wife, the former Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson of Baltimore, Md., will accompany him. A hospital room near the duke's room has been reserved for her.
An aide of the duke declined to elaborate on the nature of the ailment. When asked for assurance that the surgery would not involve the heart, the aide said "I cannot give you that assurance."
The aide's announcement Thursday said.

De Bakey has developed a reputation in the cardiovascular field — relating to or involving the heart and blood vessels.
Doctors in New York, where the duke and duchess have been staying at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, have been caring for the duke and recommended the surgery, the aide said.
Asked why Methodist Hospital and De Bakey were chosen, the aide said:
"It is very simple. The No. 1 man in the field is Dr. De Bakey, and he wants to operate in his own hospital with his own team."
Corrective Surgery
In London, Jack Le Vien, American producer who is filming the duke's biography, "A King's Story," said the onetime king told him by transatlantic phone that "he is feeling fine and that the surgery ... is only a corrective."
Le Vien said the filming was completed in August and that the duke is to do the narration in London next February.

Study 300 Proposals
For Saving Pisa Tower

ROME (AP) — A special Italian government commission seeking a foolproof way to keep the leaning Tower of Pisa from toppling over has 300 how-to-do-it ideas to work on.
The commission has boiled down almost 1,300 bright ideas from all over the world. Cost estimates range from $250,000 to $18 million.
The bell tower began to lean in 1185 while in the 12th year of its construction, due to instability of the soil. The top of the 14,000-ton tower is now 39 inches closer to the south side.
The tower leans a bit further each year, an annual rate now of about the width of the head of a pin.

Hints War
May Cross
Frontier

BY MALCOLM W. BROWNE
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam announced today the United States has agreed to an across-the-board increase in aid in the war against the Communist Viet Cong and hinted that the war will soon be expanded outside this country.
"The U.S. government has offered additional military and economic assistance to improve the execution of the government's programs and to restrain the mounting infiltration of men and equipment by the Hanoi regime in support of the Viet Cong," a communique said.
This development was disclosed as the Buddhist hierarchy called on the United States in a letter to Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor for support in a campaign to oust Premier Tran Van Huong's civilian administration. Top Buddhist leaders met in a council of war and yellow-robed monks flocked to Saigon's main pagoda.
A U.S. spokesman said the government's communique had been prepared after consultations with the U.S. mission here, but that the mission would have no comment on any aspect.
The communique said the air defenses of South Viet Nam will be strengthened, implying that more U.S. fighters and other equipment were on the way.
The communique did not spell out what forms the new American aid will take.
Some Provisions Secret
A U.S. official said some provisions will be kept secret for security reasons and other aspects have not yet been fully worked out. Consultations between the American mission and the Huong government will continue, he said.
Taylor met with Huong today for the third time since the ambassador returned from Washington last Sunday.
The communique said:
"The government of Viet Nam has just completed a series of discussions with the United States."

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Judge John A. Weeks spotted a man sitting in the rear of his courtroom wearing a hat.
Disturbed by this disregard for courtroom decorum, Judge Weeks ordered the man to leave.

Rogde didn't come forward.

U. S. Commissioner Orders
Conspiracy Case Dismissed

BY DON MCKEE
MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — The Justice Department prepared today to present its evidence to a federal grand jury against 19 men freed of charges in connection with the slaying of three civil rights workers.
Federal attorneys were stunned Thursday when U.S. Commissioner Esther Carter ruled out a purported confession at a preliminary hearing. When the Justice Department refused to proceed, she dismissed the conspiracy charges against the men, thus freeing them. They were among 21 white men arrested Dec. 4.
Hearing for Jordan
It will be up to U.S. Dist. Judge Harold Cox at Jackson to convene the grand jury but Robert Owen, Justice Department attorney, said, "we will ask that a grand jury be called as soon as possible."
Another man, James Jordan, was to have a hearing today at Biloxi, Miss., before U.S. Commissioner Verta Lee Sweatman. Jordan, who was arrested in his hometown of Gulfport Friday, was not affected by the Meridian action.
No date was set for a preliminary hearing for the 21st man, Horace D. Barnette, who was arrested in Shreveport, La.
When Miss Carter ruled against the testimony of an FBI agent, Owen declined to put up additional evidence.
Then the gray-haired commissioner said she had no alternative but to grant a defense motion to throw out the charges.
"The defendants are discharged," she said, and ordered

Psychiatry Professor Says Witness

BY JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — A doctor who has been treating Walter W. Jenkins has recommended strongly against having the resigned White House aide testify in the Senate Rules Committee's Bobby Baker investigation.
Jenkins, on a brief golfing holiday in San Juan, Puerto Rico, said Thursday: "I'll see after my stay here."
A letter from Dr. Leon Yoichelson, a psychiatry professor at George Washington University Medical School here, to Rules Committee Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., said Jenkins is suffering "a depressive reaction of the utmost gravity."
The letter, dated Dec. 4, said Jenkins was improving but warned that he "remains vulnerable to serious setback" if subjected to stress before he recovers fully. The doctor said he had recommended strongly that Jenkins not appear at the hearings, due to resume early next year.
Sex Angle Dropped
The Rules Committee voted unanimously Wednesday to summon Jenkins to testify under oath. At the same time it decided to drop the sex and political angles that turned up during the Baker investigation.
Jordan said Thursday that so far as sex is concerned, nothing contained in two FBI files "re-

Way Paved for City Workers' Pay Increases

Appleton Council Okays 3 Per Cent, Seven Cent Boosts

The way was paved for Appleton's municipal employees to receive their long-awaited general wage increase for 1964 as result of informal city council action Wednesday night.

By an 11 to 9 vote, the council indicated that when it meets next week, official approval will be given to recommendations calling for a 3 per cent boost for salaried and seven-cent hike for hourly workers.

Increases would be retroactive to Jan. 1 resulting in city employees receiving back pay checks just before Christmas ranging from $90 to $145.

In taking its action, the council concurred in the recommendations of a Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB) factfinder and the city's finance director, capping 14 months of negotiations and disputes between the city's personnel committee and Teamsters Local 563.

Committee Defeat
The council's decision was a defeat for the personnel committee which had refused to accept the factfinder's recommendations, and as of Tuesday afternoon disagreed with the report of Finance Director Donald E. Hassler.

A recommendation of the personnel committee, which never came to a vote, called for a 13 per cent increase for salaried employees and a three-cent an hour adjustment for hourly workers. It would have cost the city $27,623 this year and $30,039 in 1965, a total of $57,662.

The factfinder's suggestions approved by the council will cost the city $63,798 for 1964 and $69,298 in 1965, a combined total of $133,096.

Sen. Nelson Blasts CAB Ruling on State Airports

Letter to Board Chairman Says Inconsistencies in Decisions on Appleton, Clintonville, Ashland

The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) came under heavy fire today from Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., over its recent order to terminate North Central Airlines service at Appleton, Clintonville and Ashland.

In a sharply worded letter to Alan S. Boyd, CAB chairman, Nelson charged the federal agency with inconsistencies in which could be of greater overruling CAB Examiner Ed-ward T. Stodola in deciding against the communities.

Nelson specifically requested the CAB to review and reconsider action Nov. 24 when it brushed Stodola's recommendations aside and decided to consolidate Appleton service at Oshkosh, Clintonville at Green Bay, and Ashland service at Ironwood, Mich.

All of the communities have been served by North Central Airlines.

"Public Convenience"
"The three communities contend the CAB may not have considered 'the public convenience and necessity' in the true sense of this term, or at least may not have applied the standard of public convenience and necessity in a uniform manner," Nelson told the CAB chairman.

Nelson questioned the board's policy of cutting airline subsidy in areas where the public convenience and necessity warranted such service.

"Actually, the very purpose of these subsidies is to enable North Central Airlines to provide badly needed service to communities where it would not be economically possible to do otherwise," Nelson told Boyd.

"Yet the board now undertakes to effect a saving in that subsidy program by denying the very kind of service that the subsidy was established to guarantee," Nelson continued.

Nelson said criticisms were sharpest in the Ashland case, where the CAB said termination of North Central service would save an estimated $28,000 a year in federal subsidies to the airline.

Nelson said he could not think of any other federal programs which could be of greater assistance to Ashland than the continuation of air service.

"Yet the CAB proposes to terminate this service — even though it admits it is vital to the economy — in order to save $28,000," Nelson said.

He told the CAB chairman that Appleton, where Outagamie County recently completed construction of a multi-million dollar airport, contends that consolidated service at the Winnebago County Airport in Oshkosh is inconsistent with the vigorous growth pattern of the industrialized Fox River Valley.

Nelson also called to the Turn to Page 3, Col. 1

State's 1,000th Traffic Victim Is Lee Bricko, Native of Wittenberg

MILWAUKEE (AP)—He was just an average man, so average there was no reason for him to stand out.

This was the description given Thursday of Lee O. Bricko, 24, a native of Wittenberg, whose death in a grinding car-truck crash raised the Wisconsin highway toll for a single year to 1,000 for the first time in state history.

Bricko's pregnant wife, Josephine, 22, and their sons, Timothy, 5, and Paul, 4, were injured in the crash.

Bricko was called "an average man," by his brother, Kenneth.

Lee was named for his father, who has retired from farming boys," said Kenneth.

"Timothy had a malignant tumor on his spine two years ago, and needed a lot of care," the brother said. "He wore a brace began looking for a full time before the operation that re- moved it and a harness after- ward, but he's fine now."

Kenneth said his brother owned two cars—the 1958 convertible in which he was killed and a 1963 model, and "we were wondering why he was using the older car."

Kenneth said his brother had tricia Holpop and Connie Rades just about finished paying for the new car "and was begin- ning to get some things for himself. He bought a new pow- er saw about a week ago, but I don't think he had a chance to use it."

Sen. Nelson Blasts CAB Port Rulings

attention of the CAB head that Clintonville contends the CAB erred in failing to recognize there is not direct highway between Clintonville and Green Bay.

Cost of Improvements

It is also contended, he said, that the board erred in setting $300,000 as the cost of necessary improvements at the Clintonville airfield, and that the CAB failed to recognize, while conceding, the city has a good record as a generator of air cargo.

Nelson questioned how the CAB could reconcile its action of continuing scheduled North Central service to Winona, Minn., where Stodola had recommended consolidation with LaCrosse, Wis.

Nelson said the Wisconsin Aeronautics Commission believes if the CAB desires to save money on subsidy payments, it should seek to make such savings on flights where the airline is presently attracting sufficient passengers and cargo to show a profit, such as the run from Chicago to Detroit.

Outagamie County, Ashland and Clintonville have indicated they will petition the CAB for a review.

"The adverse economic effect on each of these communities will be considerable, and an adverse effect upon the whole state will be felt as well," Nelson said.

Knowles Tells Educators to Be More Realistic, Practical

Coordinating Committee Told Its Proposals Are Dreams, Not Plans

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — In a dramatic confrontation, Gov.-Elect Warren P. Knowles Thursday told the highest educational planners of the state to "get down to practical realities" in fashioning a blue-print for the future development of tax-supported higher education services.

The man who will be sworn in as governor next month attended a meeting of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education which informed him that it has carefully worked out what it regards as a sound plan for educational development, but Knowles was unimpressed.

Speaking in reluctantly critical tones, but his own account, he said, "This is not a plan, but a dream, an ideal."

Can't Be Achieved

The plan for two new four-year institutions in the Fox River Valley and Kenosha, for a total of 13 in the state, 14 new state university or University of Wisconsin freshman-sophomore centers or branches, and a statewide system of area schools of vocational and adult education, plus vast expansion of existing institutions including the University of Wisconsin in Madison and in Milwaukee, he said, cannot be achieved "within the economic base of the state at present."

He asked for a more "realistic" assessment of needs and possibilities within the next 30 to 60 days to guide him in presenting his own financial recommendations to the legislature after the turn of the year. Later he told reporters he has not yet ruled out the idea of an

Members Startled

Members of the coordinating committee including State Supt. Angus Rothwell, chairman, appeared startled, but were polite in their comments. The motion for a restatement and elaboration of the group's existing long-range plans was made by two University of Wisconsin regents, Arthur Debardeleben of Park Falls and Meyer Cohen of Green Bay.

Knowles appeared to get some support from John Thompson of Stevens Point, a member of the board of regents of state colleges, who repeated his familiar complaint that the occupational education system must be integrated with liberal arts education, a view Knowles has repeatedly expressed since his election.

Knowles came to the session which was arranged at his request with a formal statement in which he spoke gently, but managed to describe the existing system of higher education as a "hodge-podge," without visible planning in financing, administration, curriculum, or growth.

More Blunt

His criticisms were more blunt later when he spoke informally.

He said he wants an "objective view" and repeated that he has always doubted the coordinating committee, dominated by officers of existing institutions, can make a self-assessment.

He disclosed his worries as the man responsible for resolving the state's increasingly complex financial dilemma

The association again will sponsor a home decoration contest with cash prizes of $25, $15 and 10 dollars, awarded to three winners.

when he warned the non-elected officials: "The people of the state are not prepared to pay much more in the way of higher taxes. They want to hold the line."

Then he singled out the committee's proposal for the statewide system of educational television broadcasting as an example of what he called a "dream," which however appealing, is clearly beyond the present means of the state or the likely willingness of the taxpayer.

Enrollment Figures Back School Need

Runge Responds to Knowles Plea on Education Goals

MADISON—New projections of probable higher education enrollment demands have made the case for a new Northeastern Wisconsin four year university more pressing, the chief of staff of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education declared Thursday.

The statement came from Carlisle Runge as he responded at a meeting of the committee to criticism by Gov.-Elect Warren P. Knowles about the planning of the committee and his demand for "realistic" long-range educational goals.

Runge pointed to a count of 28,000 college age youths in the Northeastern Wisconsin counties by 1968, and said that the heightened enrollment pressure upon Wisconsin State University at Oshkosh also fortify the proposition for a new school in Northeastern Wisconsin.

Skeptical of Plans

Knowles made no direct reference to the proposal for the new school to serve the Northeastern group of counties, although he made it plain that he is skeptical about the extent of the committee's plans for the establishment of new branches and centers.

Mayor Roman Denissen of Green Bay, Clarence Nier, Green Bay corporation counsel, and John Borgenson of the Green Bay Association of Commerce sat through the conference of the new governor and the top state educational planning agency, but they did not speak.

They attended as interested observers, they said.

The new enrollment projections for the committee were based on the assumption that there will be a new school in the Fox River Valley area by 1969, and that it will probably have 5,000 students by 1975.

But despite that diversion of enrollment pressure in that general region, the State University of Oshkosh which now has about 5,300 students will rise to about 10,500 in 1968 and to a 14,715 student population by 1975, the committee study reported.

Band Mothers Will Recruit New Members

HILBERT — A drive to try to encourage mothers of all band students to join the high school Band Mothers Club was planned at a meeting of the group Monday.

This is necessary, they said, to enable the group to carry out its purpose of providing instruments and uniforms for the band.

William Huebner, band director, informed the women that the alto clarinet purchased by them last month is now in use. He said the band needs another oboe. This will be voted on at a later date.

A report was given on the fund raising party held at the November meeting.

A woodwind trio and the brass choir provided entertainment for the club's Christmas party. Gifts were exchanged.

The group will not meet during January.

Executive Head Picked For Hospital Expansion

The organization also announced today it has moved into campaign headquarters, the former Fox River Tractor office building at 1018 N. Rankin St.

The headquarters telephone number is Regent 9-2205. Blankenburg and a skeleton office staff now are on duty daily.

Blankenburg, who has been an Appleton resident since 1933, retired from AAL a year ago. A Clintonville native, he and Mrs. Blankenburg have four children.

In addition to his professional activities, he has been a board member of the County Easter Seal sale organization, has served as president of the Clover Leaf Lake Protective Association and has served as president and vice president of the congregation of St. Paul Lutheran Church.

He was a district representative for AAL for 20 years, was promoted to general agent, in which capacity he served for 16 years, and was regional counselor for Wisconsin and Chicago for seven years of that time. He served as president of the AAL Life Underwriters Association of Wisconsin and the Wisconsin Federation of local branches of AAL.

Earlier this week the Memorial Hospital board of directors appointed a central committee headed by Starck and including Henry Bailey, Charles Buchanan, Howard Thelin and Mrs. William T. Ducklow to coordinate campaign plans. The hospital's expansion program, expected to cost $4,000,000, will be partly financed by a $2,000,000 campaign to be conducted next spring.
